Notes - Hatching plan quail eggs:

- The temperature is always measured at the egg to be incubated.
- Surface brooders require a slightly higher temperature than motor brooders.
- Automatic turning from day 1. Turning by hand from day 3.
- Leave the hatched chicks in the incubator until the fluff has dried.
- Provide water for drinking directly in the rearing box.
- Wait one night or at least 8-12 hours before offering food for the first time.
- Do not forget to disinfect the incubator!

Good luck and success!
